DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election with traverse of 14 – 17 and 24 – 28 in the reply filed on July 10, 2009 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that both Group I and Group require the same protective colloid. This is not found persuasive because, as stated in the lack of unity requirement, Group I and Group II have different special technical features where Group I requires one protective colloid while Group II requires two protective colloids, where one is present during polymerization and the second is present prior to spray drying. The Examiner submits the special technical features are different and lack of unity is maintained.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Priority

2. Acknowledgment is made of applicant's claim for foreign priority based on an application filed in Germany on 10/9/03. It is noted, however, that applicant has not filed a certified copy of the 102469737 application as required by 35 U.S.C. 119(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 14 – 17 and 24 – 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Weitzel et al. (US 2003/0065079 A1).

Weitzel et al. is directed to building materials containing copolymers derived from vinyl ester, (meth)acrylic ester and optionally ethylene comonomers, stabilized with a polyvinylalcohol protective colloid as their aqueous dispersions or as redispersible polymer powders which are redispersible in water, exhibit improved processing properties and set properties (Abstract). Weitzel et al. teach that the resulting dispersion is spray dried in order to form polymer powders which are redispersible in water [0034]. The spraying aid are partially hydrolyzed polyvinyl alcohols such as copolymers of (meth)acrylates with carboxyl-functional comonomer units, poly(meth)acrylamide, polyvinylsulfonic acids and their water-soluble copolymers [0036]. The polymer dispersions and the polymer powders can be used in building material compositions such as building products made with hydraulically setting binders such as cements, lime, plaster and mineral fillers such as sand, stone, gravel, etc. [0040 - 0041]. Additionally, the binder can used as a fibrous reinforcement [0041]; the Examiner equates fibers bound with the inventive dispersion to Applicant's binder containing paper or textile product.
